DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fraser et al in view of Madoff et al.

Fraser et al discloses a computer implemented method for identifying a price at which to conduct a batch auction of a financial security. A plurality of order requests (priced) from a plurality of sources is accepted within certain order parameters and a single price is determined which to trade (col 1, lines 45-67; col 2, lines 1-31). Since the method to Fraser et al utilizes events and rules, there is present a algorithm.

Fraser et al does not explicitly disclose an imbalance ratio that is determined and on the result of a comparison of the imbalance ratio to a predetermined value.

Madoff et al discloses an imbalance ratio (para 0034; anticipated share allocation) that is determined and on the result of a comparison of the imbalance ratio to a predetermined value (para 0034; percentage of sum of gross contributions).

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to include an imbalance ratio that is determined and on the result of a comparison of the imbalance ratio to a predetermined value because Madoff et al teaches imbalance problems known in the trading art (para 0002).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims of record have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Arguments regarding 35 USC 101 and 35 USC 112 rejections are considered moot in light of amendments to the claims that obviate these rejections.
